THE SPRING OF LIFE IS PAST.

To The following lines, from the Louisv nal are above all praise surpassingly

- The spring of the is most .

 With its budding how and frau and the autumn the is coming .

 With its profit of weary come .

 Our joys games is fading .
- All perish darkly there. While bligg was blooming near us.
 In the heart's first burst of spring.
 Widle in any hopes could cheer us.
 Life beeingd a glorious thing.
- Take the fourth upon a river,
 When the breeze goes rippling o'er,
 There hopes have fled forever,
- To come to us no more.
- Tis sad vet sweet to lister.
 To the soft winds' generated
 And think we trent the state
 Our childhood know so well;
 To gaze out on the even,
 And the too indies fields of air,
 And the too lagain our boyhood's wish.
 To roam, like angels, there.
- And from that tombest leabing
- In the hippy days now gone The beautiful and lovely So fair to look upon.
- Those bright and gentle maidens
 Who seemed so formed for bliss
 Too glorious and too beavenly.
 For such a word as this;

 And whose locks of gold were .Q'er brows so sonny bright.

- Root pretends to an intimate knowledge of bad designs on the part of the colony, and circulates slanders of all kinds against them. But it is known that they are an innocent and unoffending people. They are Christians, wershipping God according to the Bible, which is their sale guide. They eat at a common table, and work for the common benefit. They suffered severely the colony for support. The colony owns about 4,000 acres of land, a church, a large brick-houses, five frame buildings, and other small houses for store-rooms a flax machine, two saw mills, a grist mill, a steam flouring mill, and a large part of the land is improved. According to the latest advices, the mobhad fixed the 0th inst. for the destruction of the village in which the colonists were located, but it is hoped that this threat was ot put into execution. Mr. SMYSEH wid-Mr. Speaker Wo have just had a most glowing description from the gentleman from Laxerne, Mr. CONYNGHAM,) of the wealth and resources of the country through which this improvement passes, coupled with the most sanguine and I may say, without intending up dis-respect, extravagant auguries so to the influence it is to exert on the financial brusperity of the Commonwealth; and a strong and urgent appeal has been made to us to grant the $300,000 saked in this bill, in or ler to promote the prosperty of that region of country, and as a revenue measure for one half of the glowing anticipations of the mentional from Luzerne, to whom I always would be realized, I would almost be persuaded to vote for this appropriation. But, sir, we are admentished by experience to distrust the lattering illusions of Hope, and toreceive with allowance, the delusive phanms which self interest conjures up before the funcies of its votaries.

Looking at the present financial conditi role to add still further to the weight of the burthen that is upon them, by granting this appropriation.

Bir, my constituents have no direct interest in this improvement. Two thirds of the countries of the State have none. We are already graming under a debt of forty millions of dollars, and the grinding taxation necessary to meet the interest thereon and maintain inviolate the plighted faith of the commonwealth. To us the canals and railreads of the State, for the construction of which this enormous debt was contracted, are easons which will readily occur to every one who hears me. Whilst the value of property is taxed in almost every conceivale form te pay for improvements that tend to diminish its value. And now, sir, when there is at last a prospect of this heavy and unjust burthen being in some measure alleplus in the Treasury towards the reduction of that debt, we are called upon to divert the people, and appropriate it to new and further improvements, in a remote quarter constituents, I protest against such injustic They have hitherto borne cheerfully the burthens imposed on them, in the cheering hope that a time might come when the taxes, tolls, and other sources of revenue, would leave a surplus to go towards the payment of the debt. What, think you, will be their feelings when they are told that that balance, justend of being applied to such a purpose, is to be recklessly squandered in new improvements; State only? Is this right? Is it politic! Is it just? But, sir, the specific appropriation asked

In the year 1842 the State, finding the present and prospective condition for finances such that she was unable to presecute to completion this and the Eric canal, passed two laws, giving them each to companies, on condition that they would complete them in a certain time, reserving step with the respect and attention due to them at any time after 1887, on condition his high character and eminent talents, of repaying to the contemps the cost of their completion with seven per cuit interest, and deducting therefrom the appoint of dividoads declared and received by the stockholders.
